Risen Reacts Game Good, four stars Risen Third Time Review Game Good, four stars Risen Third Time Game by /r/eldenring (By /r/eldenring) by /r/eldenring Hello, another Risen review! This time, I got a chance to play again after hearing good word from the other reviews, so I thought I'll have a try at it once more. However, this time I was a bit disappointed since my review is quite different. + The Good -Is it the game's fault? Is it because of me? Is it because of the game? Risen is a game with a unique fantasy setting. It is a game that used to be quite popular among the gamers long ago. It is the land between the two giants, Sothis and Nirn. The world of Risen has been shaped by the struggle between the two factions, which are called Sothis and Nirn, that caused the Earth to split into two parts. As a result, there were six continents connected by a vast world. While Sothis maintained the lands north of the Sea of Despair, Nirn maintained their dominion in the lands south of the Sea of Despair. The continents have been shaped into two different “worlds” called the “Outside” and the “Inner.” However, the Earth has continued to be shattered by the struggle between the two factions. The “Outside” is a nightmarish world, which is really reminiscent of other Dungeons and Dragons-styled fantasy games. The only difference is that you can see the night sky above. The “Outside”, furthermore, is also not a place where no life at all exists. There are various monsters, humans, gods and other various beings that roam freely in this area. So, when you visit it, it feels like you have entered the World of Warlocks. Despite the fact that you can visit the “Outside” as a normal character, you have to be in the “Sorrow” in order to fight the monsters on the field. You receive a message from the Sorrow to appear, and it will lead you to an NPC that will guide you to the “Outside.” After reaching the “Outside”, bff6bb2d33
