File-Downloader for web browsers. It is a freeware tool that can help you download any type of file directly from web browsers such as Internet Explorer, Mozilla Firefox, Opera, Netscape and many others. Files include: pictures, text files, sound files, video, etc. Leecher Pro Description: The software is a digital repository system which will allow you to make backups of your data, images, videos, music, etc. and store them in the cloud. The app will offer security, protection and convenient backups to make. Leecher is a program that allows you to get a portion of your files (such as pictures) from any specific web page on the Internet using a single click. You can use it to download photos, music, videos, PDFs, documents and much more, if it's available on the page you're visiting! The app is easy to use and works great, so you won't have any problems getting what you need. Let's see how it works: 1. You'll need to know the URL (or full path to) of the web page of the file you want to download. Note that it will download the page content instead of the actual file. You'll be able to find this information in the address bar of your browser window. 2. Run Leecher and type in the URL you want to open. You can also select a folder in your computer to create a list of web pages to be opened automatically. 3. Once Leecher starts, click on the "Download" button. There are several options available to you, like to choose to download a file with the format you prefer (PNG, JPG, GIF, BMP, etc.). Another way of downloading a file is through the "Batch Download" option (it's for users who work in groups). It works like the "one click" option but you can select a bunch of files to be downloaded simultaneously by pushing the button. This feature will help you to save time and resources, especially when you have more files to download. Besides, if you use a PC with an integrated Web cam, you will be able to use the video downloading option, which will allow you to record or download videos that you can save to your computer or share directly with others by sending their video URL. Downloading files in a secure environment Leecher ensures that all your downloaded files are stored in a secure environment. It is also 09e8f5149f

Support for almost any file-type. Fast, stable & easy to use. Copy URL and link to a file. Web-based application that takes minimal space. Q: how to get the number of records(from database) from HTML form and use it in WHERE condition for selecting records I am selecting records from database using php (mysql) on the basis of input from user. If the user gives lower number, then records are returned.

$m=1; $c=1; if(isset($_POST['submit'])) {
if($_POST['q']== "") { $s="Select"; } else{ $q =
$_POST['q']; $q = mysql_real_escape_string($q);
$s="Select * from table1 where type='$q'"; } $r =
$dbh->query($s); if($r && $r->rowCount()>0) {
while($row = $r->fetchArray(MYSQL_ASSOC)) {
if($c'; $c++; } echo " "; echo ".$row['name']. "; echo " ;
echo ".$row['phone']. "; echo ".$row['address']. "; } }
else { echo 'No record found!'; } }

In the above code, if the user does not select any value from the form, then it would say that no record is found. I want to display number of records selected as input by the user, so that it would display 'No record found!' only if the user selects 0 (zero) records. How to achieve this? A:
