Changes in pulmonary venous flow velocity pattern with heart failure: effect of exercise. To determine the effects of exercise and heart failure on the pattern of pulmonary venous flow velocity, we measured left atrial pressure, mitral valve and mitral annular velocities, pulmonary venous flow velocities and cardiac output in 30 patients before and during graded upright bicycle exercise. In 17 normal control subjects, the average resting left atrial pressure was 11.3 +/- 2.5 mm Hg and the diastolic pulmonary venous flow velocity was 69.4 +/- 20.7 cm/s. During bicycle exercise, pulmonary venous flow velocity increased from an average of 69.4 +/- 20.7 cm/s to 82.5 +/- 20.7 cm/s, and mitral flow velocity increased from an average of 108 +/- 21.9 cm/s to 124.7 +/- 28.9 cm/s. During exercise in patients with heart failure, the average resting left atrial pressure was 31.2 +/- 6.8 mm Hg, and diastolic pulmonary venous flow velocity was 65.9 +/- 18.3 cm/s. During exercise, pulmonary venous flow velocity increased from an average of 65.9 +/- 18.3 cm/s to 80.1 +/- 15.1 cm/s and mitral flow velocity increased from an average of 108.3 +/- 23.6 cm/s to 113.3 +/- 26.6 cm/s. The left atrial pressure was closely related to the pulmonary venous flow velocity ( $r = 0.55$ ;  $p$  less than 0.01). The mitral valve flow velocity and mitral annular velocity correlated well with the pulmonary venous flow velocity ( $r = 0.75$  and  $0.67$ ;  $p$  less than 0.001). The pulmonary venous flow velocity, left atrial pressure, mitral valve and mitral annular velocities were all increased during exercise in patients with heart failure. Mouly, a founder of iambic poetry and the first French poet to win a US$15,000 prize for his work, will use the ad space to promote his company and the street festival. He is also the director of the art shop that carries many of his books. Mouly was instrumental in launching two of France's most significant poetry events, in the 1950s and 1960s. "I think it's a great opportunity to have all these companies in one place," Mouly said of the advertising-sponsored festival. Q: Why do I get a "Invalid Argument" error when trying to serialize a class of unknown type? I am currently having some problem when trying to serialize a class of unknown type using the following code (I also tried using GSON, but I got the same problem): private T Serialize(Class type, Object obj) { try { if (type == null) throw new ArgumentNullException("type"); if (obj == null) throw new ArgumentNullException("obj"); // Force JsonObject since we need to force it to be a json object // So we can parse it later. obj = JsonObject.FromObject(obj); JsonWriter writer = JsonWriter.Create(new StringWriter()); JsonWriter.Serialize(writer, obj); var json = writer.ToString();
