EA SPORTS FIFA 20 and FIFA 19 introduced the 'Powered by FIFA' branding, bringing gameplay, visual and tactical advances from FIFA titles past to new heights. As the pace and complexity of the global game has accelerated, FIFA's development team has pushed the art of gameplay creation across all facets of the game to develop a game that would be the best FIFA title ever made. As the 'Powered by Football' model has evolved since the launch of FIFA 20 in 2019, so has FIFA. We've made fundamental changes to the game and added new features to make sure that what we've created delivers something that really feels like the real thing. We've also brought new technical power that allows us to achieve the best visuals and gameplay possible on all supported platforms. There is no finer FIFA title than this. The Pitch The FIFA pitch and moments are vital to what makes the game so special. Up-to-the-minute stats, news and player-created content can be found in the game's in-game Press Bar. We've added a range of new visuals and animations across every pitch. - Dynamic rolling field and grass: With deep endline match data from England's 2016 World Cup, the pitch surface moves dynamically, matching the exact distance of the pitch, the weather and player mood. This is particularly important during stoppage time where the pitch will adapt to your needs. - Weather and climatic change: Pitch conditions vary throughout the game day, from snow in winter to scorching sunshine in summer. Rain, mud, snow, rain and water are all around the pitch, but the rain is the most relevant. Unlike previous FIFA titles, rain has been fitted into the game to create a truly realistic experience. - Dynamic team and player stats: Every goal and save made in the game will affect the team and player stats so the stats system dynamically changes according to what's happening in the game. - Player instructions: Smart training improves technique and technique in turn improves the passing and shooting ability of all players. Players can call for instructions at any time and must only call for those that they are specifically instructed to give (e.g. the goalkeeper calling for instructions on how to take a shot). - Power-ups and tactics In previous FIFA titles power-ups and tactics were pre-defined for the three principal teams of each league. In FIFA 22 they can be bc9d6ddaa
