Players are also now voiced by the men and women who performed their movements – or at least the results of their movements – in the motion capture suits. Matt Dennen is a voice actor based in Seattle, Washington. Before making the leap into video games, Matt was more than happy to express his talents in music, fashion and advertising. Matt can be found on Soundcloud, Reddit, and under the name Matt Power. Matt Dennen Chelsea: Chelsea was a very wet town on Tuesday, and I was leaving that flight I was on wearing the same kit I had worn to the pub the night before to refuel. My journey down to London was slightly quicker that night than it had been the previous day because my apartment was in the opposite direction. Despite being the one to cross the entire Atlantic Ocean, I managed to get there early. I made sure to get a top-up of fluids from my local shop. My feet were a little sore, so I only stayed at the shop for 10 minutes before I was back on the train to the South Coast. If you ever look over your shoulder on a train, you'll see I spent most of my time staring out the window. I didn't stop to change out of my sports gear, which I didn't miss at all. I took off my sports shoes, showered, and looked at my outfit in the mirror. I decided to remove the zip from my shirt and washed the faux fur. I pulled out a stuffed animal to snuggle with after I changed. I kept my shorts on, and left them on the floor. It was then that I realized I was carrying my soccer bag with me. I know nothing about soccer, and I was hoping maybe they'd have a hair dryer in there. They did not. I grabbed a cup of tea from a vending machine on the train. I tried to sleep on the way to the duty free shop, but my mind was racing. The duty free shop was fairly busy, and the clerk gave me a bit of a hard time about being the only traveler without a suitcase. I debated trying to sell him something, but I wanted to keep my hard earned cash. I sat on a bench and read a book for an hour before I decided to go back to the United States. I don't think I really relaxed until I was back with my fiancé and our friends. We hung out and watched video
