A letter about Minnesota's radio-frequency identification (RFID) privacy law (12/19/2019) On October 3, 2019, the Minnesota Legislature passed an RFID privacy law, H.F. 571. The law requires

MN businesses to obtain the customer's consent before using a customer's RFID tag in connection with a transaction. The law affects MN retailers, including grocery stores, pharmacies, and hospital chains. The law imposes fines and civil penalties. It also establishes a state-run complaint process. On December 7, 2019, the Minnesota Department of Commerce (MDOC) updated the RFID system rules, published in the MN Register, to reflect the October 3, 2019 law. The MDOC's updated rules are not yet available online. The Department of Commerce will update the rules on its website when they become effective. On January 1, 2020, the new rules became effective. The updated rules list certain RFID readers that can be used as a consent requirement. The rules also provide more detail about the requirement of authorization and other elements of consent. The rules require that a business employee request the customer's consent to a use of RFID tags.

Consents may be in the form of verbal, written, or electronically submitted authorization. Consents may be invalid if the consenting individual is not the customer, if the consumer does not understand the RFID-tagged item being sold, if the RFID tag is not

I.. Today @ Colorado State Sports, Recreation, Free Time CLUB GETS TO THE PLAYOFFS Frosty and Pat Sbarra are what the best couples are made of, and they showed their worth on Saturday. Sbarra, a CSU freshman, and Frosty, a junior, have been dating for six years, and they have one sibling together and two sets of twins. While completing homework on a night that was supposed to be an around-town adventure, Sbarra realized that she was spending too much time on her laptop and began contemplating how to spend her birthday a little differently. Enter Frosty: Sbarra began asking her father, Mike Sbarra, if she and Frosty could have their own party instead of the traditional birthday party. "My dad said, 'You've been on the computer all day. You're going to be working in the computer for two more hours," Sbarra said. "I said, 'I'm going to be hanging out with my friends instead of doing this (homework) right now.'" Frosty agreed to the change. "She said, 'You're coming to my party instead of the family party,'" Mike Sbarra said. "She saved my day." The whole proposal was at the Littleton party, with dozens of family and friends in attendance. Now, the two are out on the town on a Saturday night, enjoying the warm Colorado spring weather. "I think the first time he took me out to eat was our first date," Sbarra said."
