Requirements: * Javascript * Modern UI *.NET Framework * Visual Studio * IE 9+ Limitations: * Can not yet print OpenXml documents * Unknown how it will affect future versions * All IE user agents are expected to support the following capabilities (see MSDN for more info): Status: SPPrint is still in development so it is not on the current security update cycle. Try it out! I understand as of 11/07/2007, the documentation for SPPrint on the KB Article is misleading in that it shows the list is re-render after the print preview. This is not the case, and I will update the article shortly to reflect this. If you have any questions, or run into any issues, please email me at: nigel@slowhybrid.com Suggestions, bug reports, or anything else are also welcome. Nigel A SharePoint Web Part that allows you to print a list or a calendar. You can also open an OpenXml Spreadsheet and print it. Download Regards, Miguel Hey all, I am trying to get to grips with SharePoint 2010, and am at the list point where I need to print a set of documents. From what I have searched online, there are various add-ons and "single-function" solutions, which are all fine, however I would like my solution to be as easy to deploy, and to have an as little impact on the server (and thus it's resources) as possible. So I have decided to create a 'content-proerty' site, and am trying to modify a simple list template to print to a printer, as a test. I am new to SharePoint so bear with me if I am going down the wrong path. I have created a document library called "printtest", and SPPrint is a SharePoint add-on for printing lists & calendars. Before printing, the list/calendar is redrawn to full browser window removing the SharePoint headers. With this, you can view the list/calendar normally and print the list/calendar in its original form. Note: This tool is released as SharePoint 2007 preview version due to the fact that it has bugs in uploading events into calendar. SPPrint Installation: Download SPPrint setup.rar and extract the zip file. Launch the setup and press "Next" button. Press "I Agree" button. Open the folder ".zip". You will find the "SPPrint-" folder. Open it and double click "SPPrintFull.msi". Let the installation process complete. You can launch it from Start > Run. How to install SPPrint with WIX: If you would like to use SPPrint with WIX, then follow the steps below. 1. Go to SPPrint's site and open "SPPrintFull.msi". 2. Inside the folder you find, there are three files: "SPPrintFull.msi", "SPPrintSetup.exe" and "spprintprinter.inf". Select the SPPrintFull.msi to install. 3. Let the installation process complete. SPPrint FAQ Q. How to remove the InstallShield Files from the SPPrint? A. We can delete the InstallShield folder, not the files. To get rid of the files, please contact us for removal. Q. How to install SPPrint on a UAC-enabled system? A. Under the UAC, you cannot install or change the system. This is an incompatibility of our setup. Q. SPPrint doesn't offer to start after installation. A. After installation, you need to enable the SPPrint feature, as described in this article: Q. What does 'Web Setup' do after you click on the 'Next' button? A. It will download some files and create a virtual server. It will also download some more files and patch the IIS Web setup for you. Q. The installer is failing to install my shortcuts. A. Do you have the short-cut with the small square (or icon) at the top-right b7e8fdf5c8

It's the last day of school And the six year olds are all in the room crying. They were crying yesterday too. That's to be expected. They are upset and going to be for the next ten weeks. But what's not to be expected? Is it any wonder that they are going to cry? Their Class Teacher tried to explain to them about the 'Right thing to do' today but, she told them, there were only two options, either have a nice day and be happy with yourself and everybody else or cry. The first was doing the 'Right thing' and the other was doing something that at the time was 'wrong.' So, if they had chosen to have a nice day then they would be doing the 'Right thing' to other people but they would still be upset inside. But, if they did not choose to have a nice day, then they were doing the 'wrong thing' to themselves. The six year olds were not 'at school' today. They weren't at'school' when they were having to listen to yet another speech about how much they were loved. They were not at'school' when they were coming up to the front of the class and being told by their Teacher that they were wonderful. They were not 'at school' when they were being told about all of the wonderful things that their '
