We examined the effects of nilvadipine on ischemic preconditioning. Hearts obtained from Wistar rats subjected to 30 min of global ischemia were treated with nilvadipine at 5 or 10 microM before a 5-min, 25-min, or 30-min pre-ischemic perfusion. The arrhythmia index at 5 min of the 30-min reperfusion was significantly lower in the nilvadipine 5 microM group than in the control group. The arrhythmia index at 5 min of the 25-min pre-ischemic perfusion was also lower in the nilvadipine 5 microM group than in the control group. However, the difference in the arrhythmia index was not significant. The arrhythmia index at 5 min of the 30-min pre-ischemic perfusion was significantly lower in both nilvadipine 5 microM and 10 microM groups than in the control group. These results suggest that nilvadipine may be a protective agent for ischemic preconditioning.using System.Reflection; using System.Resources; using System.Runtime.CompilerServices; using System.Runtime.InteropServices; using System.
