His father, Peter Jefferson, died in 1659, leaving his mother, Elizabeth Trammell Jefferson, to raise her two young daughters, Mary and Elizabeth, on her own. She soon moved the family to a farm in Shadwell, a small and low-lying area on the James River. By age 17, Thomas Jefferson had left his mother and sisters and was living with his ailing grandfather. He then traveled to London and returned in 1667 to live with his father at Shadwell. He may have been able to leave Virginia because of the Indian massacre of 1622, known as Bacon's Rebellion, which forced many Virginians to move to other colonies. Young Thomas Jefferson's father died in 1676, and Thomas returned to live with his mother and sisters in Shadwell. Despite leaving the family home for several years, Thomas Jefferson never lost his deep connection to the area. In 1767, he purchased his neighbor's 10-acre (4 ha) plot of land and built a frame house on it. In 1769, he sold the land to his son-in-law, John Wayles, Sr., and moved the family to Tuckahoe, a small farm in a rural area near the Potomac River. In 1743, John Wayles, Sr., and Elizabeth Hemings, Thomas Jefferson's great-grandmother, married. John, Sr., was a widower with four young children, two of them daughters—Margaret, or Polly, and their

This is why the newest firmware (2.1) doesn't work on both the WGScan and the ScanMaster 2.0 and 2.1 and why they are working on their own new chips.The two new chips are based on the new ELM327 chip which is also used in the WGScan but has a different layout for the OBD-II block.It should now be possible to use the WGScan with both the WGScan and the ScanMaster 2.0 and 2.1 as both the WGScan and the ScanMaster 2.0 and 2.1 use the same chip - but the firmware layout is different.New firmware version is required for the WGScan and the ScanMaster 2.0 and 2.1.In July, an article in the Huffington Post reported that technology had created a convergence of causes that is redefining what it means to be a "consumer." As consumers increasingly exercise their purchasing power at the kitchen table, new gadgets allow them to do much of their shopping while sitting on the toilet. As if this wasn't enough, the workplace is, in some ways, even more tightly connected to the home 0cc13bf012
