What's new in Vegetaball:

.36 Gold's rival, Weebstudios, is really putting in the effort to make a sequel to the addictive arcade game. Not only the first level looked good but also its more addicting improvements were actually found. With the update, it successfully got more hit and awarded with more than 100k votes, more than half golds of the total. And to prove their last glimmer of hope, they had already released the first official screenshot. Screenshot But that doesnt mean golds will not be speaking any surprises on what golds they are trying to offer. After careful study of golds voting history and the new update of golds are really surprised with the fact that Ruby, Diamond, and Emerald were removed from the Mixer, and Ape, Oni, Ghost, and Gargoyle from the Nation 3. We really hoped that golds will look for those medals, but thanks to the new update, golds are not playing that game as usual. They are much more experiencing for one thing. Before you look at some updated golds, it will be most welcome to know more from our new fans. We invited them and we ask them to write down how did they feel for past few days. What is Comand Circle and what is golds control? Comand Circle is a central control panel that golds can use to play and get golds, and we get golds just by giving them some commands.

You wake up, unconscious, in a room where you look only to find that you are very thirsty. You're thirsty. You look around, and as you begin to panic, you notice that you are also very hungry, and you feel the need to go to the bathroom. You wander around the room, picking things up, and then you realize that you are thirsty again. So, you grab a glass of water, and after drinking it you ask yourself, "What am I doing in here?" No flying. A little patience might be useful. No jumpy camera. All graphics and sound are, of course, original. In the center of the small town is the house to which you are heading. This is where our hero came to rest. Look around, but be careful, since there are things that might cause you to get lost. And you're thirsty again. Continue looking around until you find what you need. Don't worry, you'll find your way out of this.

Q: How to integrate Delphi's TList with a list in Excel? I'm trying to import a list of small integers (i.e. 1,2,3,4) into Excel, where the list is of length N, and the list has to be added to an Excel range N times. I can use GetExcelRange to get the Excel range, and use TList.AddRange to add each element to the range. But I have no idea how to tell the TList to add one element to the range N times. Is there any easy way to do this?

A: As we both know, there is a 4th parameter in TList.AddRange which is where you pass in the number of elements you want to add to the list. So, in your TList constructor (or you can just use a plain TList if you do not need to set custom properties) you set your length property to some value (say 10) and then override the 4th parameter of TList.AddRange passing in 10. If you need your value to repeat (in your case, I think it is an integer), you can use the String function RepeatString to create a new string value containing the same text 10 times.

function RepeatString(const S: string; Count: Integer): string; var L: Integer; begin Result := S; L := Length
